IFRC engages with Haiti president on disaster law

The leaders of the IFRC and President Michel-Joseph Martelly of Haiti recently discussed the importance of strong legal frameworks for disaster risk reduction and response. More details.

New international “Guidelines on Food Security and Governance of Tenure”

Intergovernmental negotiations led by FAO have resulted in a new set of international guidelines to support effective land tenure procedures, with an eye to improving food security and disaster resilience. More details.

Cambodia’s path to a new and improved legal framework for international disaster assistance

Cambodia’s new draft law on disaster management, if passed in its current form later this year as expected, will mark a significant change in the way Cambodia works to prevent and respond to disasters. More details.

ALSO IN THIS EDITION

> Inter-American Red Cross conference highlights legal preparedness for disasters
> Latin American and Caribbean governments discuss progress in improving regional cooperation in disaster response
> Governments and National Societies assess IDRL in the Horn of Africa
> Northern Africa consultation on the Kampala Convention emphasizes humanitarian cooperation
> New IFRC Disaster Law Working Paper on disaster risk reduction
> IDRL programme annual report for 2011 released
> Emory International Law Review publishes issue on disasters and law
> Japan one year later: Conference on law and disasters in Japan and the Asia Pacific

Call for papers

> Canadian Council Conference on international law in times of crisis and emergency and call for papers