Related Emergency or Annual Appeals: Annual Appeal for North Africa \(01.92/2003\)

Operational Summary: Once the emergency relief phase of the May 2003 earthquake operation was completed, the Algerian Red Crescent Society, supported by the Federation, continued to address the needs of some 30'000 persons or 5,000 of the most vulnerable families among an affected population of 175,661 living in the camps. During the emergency phase, a total of 30,291 tents were erected by the Algerian Government. Since, many families have returned to their homes after the necessary repairs had been made. Others were gradually relocated from tent camps to temporary pre-fabricated housing (see photo). The relocation process was completed by the end of December 2003.

Permanent solutions are not expected to be available shortly. Therefore, the ARCS considers developing longer term plans to assist the population relocated in new but temporary settlements.

The ARCS, supported by the Federation delegate assigned to the operation, retains its position of the primary operational humanitarian agency in Algeria and works in partnership with several national societies.

Operational developments

After the completion of the emergency phase of the humanitarian response to the devastating earthquake that had struck Algeria in May 2003, the ARCS focused on the delivery of relief assistance for up to 5000 of the most vulnerable families.

Appeal title: Algeria: Earthquake; Emergency Appeal no. 14/03; Operations Update no. 4

The plight of thousands of people affected by the disaster resulted in a wave of solidarity both nationally and internationally.

The relocation programme which consists in constructing prefabricated houses in the willayats of Algiers and Boumerdes to accommodate people made homeless by the disaster was initiated by the government in late September, 2003 and was completed at the end of December, 2003. Each family relocated from the tent to the prefabricated unit benefited as well from a government grant.

Final statistics on the number of prefabricated houses that have been constructed for the relocation purposes were not available at the time of reporting. The table below shows however preliminary statistics, released earlier:

Willaya	Municipality	No. communes	No. sites	No. units
BOUMERDES	Borj Menaiel	4	8	1623
	Boudouaou	3	8	1175
	Boumerdes	3	9	1932
	Dellys	2	4	522
	Isser	2	2	443
	Thenia	1	4	387
	Khemis	3	4	648
	Baghlia	2	3	436
	Naciria	1	1	101
ALGIERS	Rouiba	4	4	1293
Total:		25	47	8,560

Although it was planned to complete the relocation before the month of Ramadan, some 120'000 people were still in tents at the end of November.

The traditional ARCS programme consisting in providing a daily Ramadan meal to the most vulnerable was expanded to cover some 4,000 families still sheltered in nine tent-camps where for safety reasons cooking inside the tents was forbidden.

Camp sites	No Families
DERGANA	282
REGHAÏA	308
ROUIBA	250
BOUDOUAOU	651
CORSO	200
ZEMOURI	627
BORJ MENAIEL	911
BOUMERDES / FOUAÏSSE	450
BOUMERDES / OMS	230

Ramadan meal programme in the tent camps was also an opportunity for the ARCS to use new mobile kitchens. Namely, the national society disposes currently of eight mobile kitchens of which six were procured through the Federation in October 2003 and two were donated by the Belgian Red Cross. In addition, the Federation supported the procurement of 40 isotherm “thermo ports”. Mobile kitchens will remain on disaster preparedness stocks of the ARCS. It is foreseen that the mobile kitchens will to be used each year during Ramadan but also in traditional annual summer camps and in disasters that would require quick and mass delivery of food to the affected people.

Relief / Logistics:

In addition to the Ramadan meal programme, the ARCS undertook several distributions of food and basic non-food and medical items for up to 10,000-20,000 persons in the period covered by the current report.

Camp management: daily services that the national society was providing in the camp management were reduced considerably after the Ramadan period when the relocation process gained momentum. During this period as well it was decided that the national society's headquarters will hand over responsibility for coordination of relief activities to the branches (committees) in the affected areas, thus dismantling the central "Crisis Cell" (Cellule de Crise) that had been coordinating the relief operation from the very beginning of the response.

Logistics: Federation Logistics / Relief delegate was sent to Algeria at the end of July with following tasks: a) to assist the ARCS in upgrading the reporting on the status of all relief goods received in response to the Appeal and help verifying these reports; b) provide logistics training to staff and volunteers involved in the reception, transport, storage and distribution of relief goods, thus assisting the ARCS in improving the tracking of the commodities, management of the warehouses and logistics reports and c) to assist the national society in handling the local procurement of relief items to be distributed during the relocation phase.

Twenty-eight selected participants from the ARCS had the opportunity to be trained over three days on Federation standard logistics procedures. The training aimed at strengthening the key areas of the logistics chain, introducing Federation standards and procedures wherever appropriate and raising awareness on issues of reporting and accountability through practical exercises.

Status of relief goods received:

The status of basic relief goods on stocks by December 21, 2003 is showed in the table below:

Item	Qty Received	Qty Distributed	% distributed
TENTS	2'732	2'308	84.5
BLANKETS	35'150	12'192	34.7
PLASTIC SHEETING	5'900	1'038	17.6
KITCHEN SETS	8'719	2'789	32

NB. For an overview of movement of stocks since the beginning of the relief operation please refer to the annexes to this report.

Blankets and other shelter related goods: to date, all tents that were taken over by the Civil Protection (Protection Civile) were erected by them at various sites. However, Civil Protection has not released yet approximately 9'000 RC/RC blankets, tarpaulins and 1 rub hall. The Federation encourages the national society to conclude an agreement with the Civil Protection. The agreement should stipulate among other things a confirmation of reception of the goods as well as either details of the Civil Protection distribution plan either a timetable for the recuperation by ARCS of those items.

Hygiene kits: There are no changes in distribution statistics from those in the previous report, because the ARCS is still distributing thousands of hygiene kits from bulk donations the national society had received directly from donors in Algeria from abroad. Sorting out hygiene items from bulk and composing individual kits suited for men, women and children appears to be an extremely time consuming task. The ARCS decided to distribute first hygiene items received from direct donations. Hygiene kits received in response to the current Appeal are kept for the time being in the ARCS's warehouses. Distributions of hygiene items will continue until March 2004 for people relocated in prefabricated housing.

Kitchen sets: Thirty two percent (32 %) of the kitchen sets received in response to the Appeal were distributed during the last quarter of 2003. Distributions will be carried out further in 2004.

Local procurement:

The initial ARCS plan to purchase refrigerators and gas stoves and distribute them to relocated families had to be revisited following the unexpected and last minute government decision to give a substantial, one-off financial donation to families moving from tents to prefabricated houses. However, the ARCS reconfirmed a need for assistance for target beneficiaries which led to the decision to procure locally 1'500 gas heaters and bottles. Although some of the prefabricated houses are equipped with electric heaters, prices for electricity are so high that many relocated citizens will have difficulties paying them. Cheaper gas offers an appropriate solution.

Community based centers

Although the ARCS continued to provide direct relief assistance to the relocated population throughout the month of December, longer term needs of the affected population became increasingly on the agenda of discussions with the Federation, French Red Cross and Spanish Red Cross Societies.

Now that the tent-camps have been phased out and people were relocated to new sites for yet an undetermined period of time, the ARCS in agreement with the local authorities, considers channeling its assistance to the relocated population through community and primary health centers to be constructed on the sites of temporary relocation.

The expertise of the national society in running vocational training centres and kindergartens at national level has been recognized by the government. Consequently, the Office for Social Affairs in Boumerdes made a proposal to the National Society to extend these traditional programmes to cover 20 of the new settlements in the willayat.

Based on lessons learned from similar situations, the ARCS is aware that what is considered as temporary settlement may in fact turn into a longer term solution for the affected population. In that context, there is a need to develop in the settlements a range of basic services primarily health and social services thus inculcating normality in the lives of those relocated from tents into prefab-settlements. Community centres will play in this respect a key role. Currently, the ARCS is assessing the situation in order to develop focused and longer term sustainable programme.

As soon as the ARCS will present a consolidated plan for community centres, donors will be approached for confirmation of interest and the approval to use part of the donated funds for the establishment of these centres.

The ARCS is also seeking for assistance to reconstruct some of its premises that suffered structural damage in the branches (local committees) affected by the earthquake.

Disaster Preparedness

A post disaster evaluation is planned to take place in the first quarter of 2004 with the aim of providing the national society and other response actors with valuable lessons learned and recommendations to be used in upgrading both preparedness and response mechanisms and activities.

However and in the meantime the ARCS took a proactive role in addressing few important disaster preparedness issues. From the very beginning of the operation, it was clear that the establishment of an operational center was a key for the future development of the disaster management of the national society. ARCS and the local authorities are currently discussing the establishing of the ARCS "Crisis Center" and possible allocation of a plot of land for this purpose. Details on the organizational structure of the future "Crisis Center" will be outlined in a Plan of Action to be developed by the national society. Once agreed the Plan of Action will be shared with donors.

After completing their respective missions, Health and Water Sanitation ERUs that were deployed in response to the emergency left a considerable quantity of equipment. Funds that have been made available will be used for training ARCS technical teams on the use of the equipment. French Red Cross and Spanish Red Cross Societies will provide facilitators for the technical part of the training. In the same way, additional training on the use and maintenance of six mobile kitchens will be organized, as soon as a technical team will be set up by the ARCS.

As a first step in addressing the issue of proper communication systems which are vital in disaster response, the ARCS commissioned a study on rehabilitation and upgrading of these systems.

The ARCS will also benefit from a multi year support the Swiss Development Agency/Swiss government has granted to Federation disaster management programmes in the region. The support is aimed at strengthening ARCS advocacy role in the communities in both disaster preparedness and disaster response as well as increasing the institutional capacities in both areas.

Bilateral programs

- Spanish Red Cross

With the support of the Spanish Red Cross, the ARCS has set up a modular, semi-permanent Health Centre in Reghaïa. The Centre consists of 13 prefabricated modules, each equipped with its own electricity and telephone lines. If need would be, the whole centre or some of its modules could be easily dismantled, transported to and installed in a new site. A 170-square-metre surface of the Center is divided into six consultation rooms, a pharmacy, a laboratory, a waiting room, and two toilets and can treat up to 45 patients per day. The structure is being connected to the local water and sanitation networks. The signing of an agreement between the ARCS, Spanish Red Cross (SRC) and the Algerian Ministry of Health is expected to take place shortly. In terms of the agreement the responsibility for the Health Centre will be transferred to the Ministry of Health. The centre was funded from donations of the Autonomous Community of Madrid, the Council of Terrassa and the Council of Oviedo.

A disaster-preparedness campaign for the population of Reghaïa has been designed by the ARCS and the SRC. The campaign will be implemented in schools by ARCS's volunteers who will teach students how to prepare for an earthquake, what to do when an earthquake strikes and when it finishes. A pamphlet was specially designed by a famous Algerian caricaturist. It presents characters well known and popular in the Algerian society and depict the whole family who prepares for the earthquake. The pamphlet reflects the content of the workshop and it will be handed out to the students who will be tasked to spread further the message to their families. The message of the pamphlet is simple, concise and neutral in tone. It avoids raising fear or anxiety but gives instead practical advices.

Sample of the brochure in French and in Arabic

- French Red Cross

Summer camps for children affected by the earthquake

A total of 8,725 children have benefited from a two weeks long vacation programme, organized by the ARCS, between July and September 2003. The French Red Cross funded 9 of the 11 vacation centres, located on the Mediterranean coast thus allowing the ARCS to support 4000 children who experienced the earthquake. The children got the opportunity to leave the tent camps and enjoy recreational activities.

Cooking areas for families living in tent camps

Four cold storage rooms and 15 professional gas-stoves, each one delivered with a full cooking set and a set of gas bottles, have been installed in special cooking areas in 7 tent camps, where a permanent team of ARCS volunteers was present. Hot meals were prepared for the population of the camps during the months of Ramadan. The equipment was made available also for family or community cooking. After the closure of the tent camps, the equipment will be used for social activities in local communities.

Back-to-Schools

Three thousand (3,000) schoolbags with stationary as well as 120 000 notebooks, which contain on the inside covers first aid recommendations and the humanitarian principles of the RC/RC Movement, were distributed to students in the earthquake affected area. The articles were distributed directly to pupils in their classrooms and in the presence of their teachers and principals.

Hygiene articles

Distributions of dozens of thousands of individual hygiene sets collected in France, including toothbrush, toothpaste, soap, shampoo, hair brush, etc. that started in June and are still ongoing,. ARCS volunteers are carrying out distributions to both the families still living in temporary tent camps, and the ones who moved recently into their designated temporary housing. Given the large quantity of hygiene items still available, the target beneficiary population might be expanded.

Community structures

The FRC and the ARCS are developing together a project for establishing in the temporary housing sites a needed health and social infrastructure such as health centres, kindergartens, and youth centres. Locations and type of support will be selected in accordance with the needs expressed by the local authorities.

- Swiss Red Cross

A visit of the Swiss Red Cross to the ARCS is expected to take place in mid-January 2004 in order to define future bilateral co-operation in the field of reconstruction activities (sanitation: the construction of two waste water pumping stations at two relocation sites in the willayat of Boumerdes) in addition to a programme in favour of children (distribution of clothes and school items). A project coordinator and a logistics delegate have been assigned for the implementation of the projects and are based in Algiers.
